

Privacy Policy

This page explains the privacy policy for Digital Screen Media. Digital Screen Media respects the importance of your privacy and the privacy of all its customers. We believe that it is important that you know how we treat the information about you that we receive on the internet.

Information Collected

You may visit our website without telling us who you are or revealing any personally identifiable information about you. Our servers collect the browser in use (e.g., Internet Explorer, Firefox) and this information is aggregated to measure the number of visits, average time spent on the site, pages viewed etc. Digital Screen Media uses this information to measure the use of and to improve the content of our site. Personally identifiable information such as names, email addresses etc., are only known when they have been voluntarily provided by a visitor for registration.

Use of Your Information

We may use the personal information you provide to understand the use of our website and make improvements and to respond to specific enquiries from visitors. This site collects only information that you supply. We do not collect any financial information. We may send you updates and offers from partners that we feel may be relevant to you, via email or post. You are free to opt-out at any time and we will remove your details. We will analyse the data you submit to enable us to develop our business, an example of this might be "what are the most popular pages on our site." We may also use non-identifying and aggregate information to better design our website.

Disclosing your information

Personally identifiable information that may be collected in connection with visitors to the Site is retained by Digital Screen Media. We will protect your privacy and under no condition will your personal information, including your email address, be shared with or disclosed to, any third parties. We do not sell, transfer or otherwise disclose personally identifiable information outside this company, except where disclosure is required by law.
